FPL restores power to 2200, sends 275 lineman to Flagler

October 8, 2016 – As of 6:30 a.m. Friday, power has been restored to 2,200 customers and FP&L is sending 275 linemen to Flagler County today to increase those efforts.

One main feeder is now up and running, putting Florida Hospital Flagler back on the grid. Another main feeder suffered significant damage but is under repair.

“I am pleased and impressed with what they have been able to get done overnight,” Flagler County Administrator Craig Coffey said. “Progress will continue to increase now that we have daylight and can get assessment crews out.”

There are a number of transformers out throughout Flagler County. See the attached map for locations.

As always, consider downed power lines as live. Be careful when engaging in debris removal and associated activities.
