Varn Park reopens after two months of dune restoration efforts

April 13, 2017 – Varn Park reopened Wednesday after two months of dune restoration efforts in the Hammock.

The Department of Environmental Protection issued a permit to the Hammock Dunes Owners Association to assist with its restoration efforts. While the permit is in effect until May 1, the private work in that area has been substantially completed.

“We know this has been an inconvenience for those who enjoy this park. We appreciate everyone’s patience and understanding and are happy to reopen it,” County Administrator Craig Coffey said. “Additional projects are expected in the near future and that will likely require additional temporary beach closures in other areas from time to time.”

Additional information will be provided as it becomes available.
