Mandatory beachside curfew extended to 7 a.m. Tuesday

September 11, 2017 – Flagler County has issued an emergency order extending the beachside curfew. Residents on the barrier island are to remain where they are until 7 a.m. Tuesday.

“We have extended the curfew on the barrier island because of the critical conditions there,” said Flagler County Public Safety Emergency Manager Steve Garten. “There is a lot of flooding, downed power lines and debris on the beachside.”

Also, the mandatory curfew remains in effect for all Flagler County residents between the hours of 7 p.m. and 7 a.m.

The ban on the sale of alcohol continues and includes bars and restaurants in addition to stores. All residents are asked to limit water usage to conserve sewer space.
