FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Flagler County accepts applications for interim county administrator

January 15, 2019 – Flagler County is accepting applications for an interim county administrator while search efforts are underway to fill the position permanently.

Applicants should have local government experience at the executive level, specifically administrator, manager or deputy administrator for a county or a city. In lieu of local government experience, applicants with relevant executive level management experience are also welcome to inquire.

Interested applicants must submit their resumes no later than January 28, 2019 for consideration. Compensation is negotiable based on relevant experience, education, and qualifications.

The Board of County Commissioners met Monday morning to determine a strategy moving forward. Deputy County Administrator Sally Sherman – per the authority of her position – will serve as acting county administrator until an interim administrator is selected or through January 31, her last day of employment with Flagler County as she has tendered her resignation.

Qualified applicants are asked to send their resume to Commission Chairman Donald O’Brien at dobrien@flaglercounty.org. Commissioners would like to seat the interim county administrator “quickly” to ensure cohesiveness in the coming months.

O’Brien praised staff: “I am very confident this government will function without a hitch.”

The interim administrator will be a contract employee who will serve until a permanent county administrator is selected.
